Varied Fun Awaits Guests at Annual Session

By Jim Whitehead

Last month you were able to learn of the fantastic speaker line-up for the 140th SCDA Annual Session. However, we will be at Myrtle Beach and it can't be all work and no play! Please join the 2009 Convention Committee as we say goodbye to the chill in the air and a bad case of the winter blues and enjoy a mix of sun and fun for the entire family at Kingston Plantation.

If sand between your toes is not enough, we have a great slate of events! Many of your favorite social events are back, but "with a special twist". The SCDA will host the Welcome Reception on Thursday from 5:00 to 6:30 pm. Attendees and exhibitors will have the chance to mix amid a hall packed with drink and festive food. Drink tickets are available and friends will be waiting! This annual kickoff will be followed by the always anticipated Beach Dance at 8:00 pm. This year we are excited to present the East Coast Party Band. The East Coast Party Band is a versatile and exciting musical entity from Charleston, South Carolina. The group has 6 dynamic lead vocalists, a well-versed horn section and a fantastic rhythm section that has played together for twenty plus years. The Party Band has a state-of-the-art sound and lighting system and features musical styles that include beach music, soul and classic rock and roll. You won't want to miss it - "let's put ten pounds of party in a five pound bag"! As always, the party is free and music is for everyone!

Scott Smith

Join us Saturday evening for A Night at the Ripley's Aquarium. Submerge yourself and your family in an underwater world while enjoying drinks, heavy hors d'oeuvres and the company of your colleagues. This is an opportunity for your entire family to enjoy this unique venue and a children's menu will be provided. Check out the SCDA Annual Session website for special rates. Among the sharks and shells will be the acoustical performances of Scott Smith. Scott has been a fixture on the South Carolina entertainment scene since 1994, and has been featured regularly at the House of Blues. He has opened for national artists such as Keb' Mo, the Neville Brothers and Better than Ezra. In 2006 Scott released his debut album, "Quicksand Remedies". The work showcases his soul driven musical style that comfortably walks the intersection of pop-hop, reggae and funk. Scott continues to perform in venues from Charleston, South Carolina to Cleveland, Ohio. This family event, and the entire Annual Session, will be one you won't soon forget.

Registration will soon begin, and you are invited to visit the Convention website for more information and updates. Listen to music by the entertainers, see clips of the Aquarium and make plans to attend the SCDA Annual Session at the newly redecorated Kingston Plantation in Myrtle Beach. Courses begin on Thursday morning, April 30, and events continue through Sunday, May 3.

DHEC Waste Inspection Changes

By Madeline Fogg

No longer are mailed audits DHEC's only way of inspecting and verifying a facility's compliance with infectious waste regulation. As many of you already know, DHEC's Infectious Waste Division has started doing on-site inspections of infectious waste for proper handling, labeling, storage and transport. There have been no appointments made for these inspections; they simply walk in the door. A number of issues have arisen from these inspections and DHEC has issued warning letters for non-compliance.

The first issue to consider is your generator status. Any business that generates infectious waste must register with DHEC. Businesses that generate less than 50 lbs. per month are considered "Small Generators", 50 lbs. or greater are considered "Large Generators". Small Generators may use landfills to dispose of their waste after they have met disinfection and documentation requirements. Both types of generators are required to document how much they produce each month. For Small Generators who use the landfills, these are office documents. For Large Generators, this may be covered by in-office documents as well as documents or manifests from an off-site transporter. If a Small Generator decides to have their waste transported, they must meet the packaging, labeling and manifest requirements in the same manner as a Large Generator.

For any size facility which uses a transporter to pick up and incinerate their waste, DHEC is now auditing pick-up manifests for proper labeling requirements. All pick-up manifests are required to include the waste weight at the time of the pick-up and the date the container was closed. Warning letters have been issued by DHEC for insufficient or incorrect documentation. In an email exchange with Leslie Yasinsac at DHEC, she writes "Although the regulations require that this weight be recorded on the manifest, our policy has been to allow some leeway, as long as a record of the weight is available." Despite her statement, warning letters are being issued, therefore strict compliance with the regulations should be your goal.

Assorted Thoughts Collected During a Recent Charleston Weekend:

Designated Buyers

There has been some discussion on the floor of a number of dental meeting exhibit halls that the vendors tend to “look for dentists” in the crowd. I guess the obvious reason is that the dentist is the appropriate party to approach for purchasing. Sales and sometimes success may depend upon the number of dentist interactions that occur during the convention.

However, in some cases this may be faulty logic. In many offices a trusted assistant or purchasing agent actually makes most of the decisions about product purchases. So this year, the Exhibit Chairman Pierce Butler and I have established a new category of meeting registrant: the Designated Buyer.

During the registration process for the Annual Session, dentists are encouraged to identify staff members who are empowered to make purchases on behalf of the practice. Designated Buyers will be identified by a ribbon affixed to the registration name tag. Exhibitors will be advised that besides dentists, others will be buyers! Look for the ribbons on the registration section for the Session.

Dental School Tuition

The cost of becoming a dentist educated in South Carolina just went up again! Many are the times that we have shared the burden of debt that follow a graduate from the MUSC College of Dental Medicine. Student loans underwrite and assist most students who go through the dental program, but debt often exceeds $200,000!

Serious rumors suggest that the tuition and other fees for next year will pass the $50,000 line! This is a great increase over the past decade’s average fees. Actually, first year dental tuition for the current year is somewhere around $45,000. Dental students find that their support from the SC Legislature has dwindled to under 7% of tuition. At one time recently, MUSC was one of the bargains in dental education holding a place in the least expensive programs. Now we are in the mid to upper most expensive colleges. Do you know what the Medical College of Georgia in state students pay for a dental school education? Approximately $23,721 per year! UNC pays $27,225.00 for residents. Nationally, according to ADA statistics, in state school averages are about $37,000. The disparity is distressing, and punishing to professional students in South Carolina. This is not a fault of our fine dental school; it is a problem of under-funding! The dental school gets approximately 35% of the money it collects in tuition. The balance goes to MUSC.

Most of us graduated with debt. But proportionately, today’s dental student debt is oppressive! Help our dental students by contacting your legislators to correct this discrepancy.

President's Message

As you read this article the SCDA will have already launched our statewide “No Cavities Instructions” as part of our “Cavity Free Community Campaign”. Expanding upon last year’s national winning effort and the past several years of our successful “Cavity Free Community Campaign”, the SCDA will again be sponsoring many activities throughout the month of February in celebration of the ADA’s National Children’s Dental Health Month.

Dr. Jim Mercer
President

Rocky Napier launched our statewide campaign over two days in late January 2009 with up to 200,000 South Carolinians listening each day via all SC ETV/NPR stations. Following an eight minute promotional interview, which aired on the 26th and many additional promotional announcements over the next 72 hours, a full one hour interview/call-in show was aired on the 28th from Noon to 1 pm. It covered the optimal nutritional, home care, and oral health instructions for those planning to have children, those expecting, or those who have children up to age 5. A very big thank you goes out to our host, Jon Keith of SC ETV and to Georgia Famuliner of Welvista, who arranged and participated in this event with your SCDA. And you can still “listen in” to both programs by visiting the two following links: <http://cufan.clemson.edu/psaradio/YDPodcast/YD090126.mp3> (17:05 minutes into the program) and <http://cufan.clemson.edu/psaradio/YDPodcast/YD090128.mp3> (for the entire broadcast) or on www.scd.org.

We certainly hope the balance of the month will be just as exciting and it will be with your extremely important participation. Just explore the NCDHM tabs and information on the SCDA website and look for the Cavity Free Community Campaign with its “No Cavities Instructions” and the NCDHM entry form. Please download these items and distribute the “No Cavities Instructions” to every child, parent, caregiver, and teacher you come in contact with during the month of February. Then document the dissemination of these instructions in addition to all the other NCDHM activities you arrange. Everything you could possibly need from the SCDA or the ADA is on this website and only a click or two away.

With February being National Children’s Dental Health Month, National Dental Careers Month, National Groundhog Job Shadowing Month and Day, Black History Month and American Heart Month; it is easy to see how South Carolina dentists can play a major role in the advocacy for and the celebration of the future oral health of our state’s children. Of additional importance, all of our collaborating partners are back from last year with the addition of some new organizations. EdVenture, the South’s largest children’s museum and the tenth largest children’s museum in the world, the SC DHEC Oral Health Division, Welvista, the Marionette Theatre, the SC Head Start Statewide Collaboration Office, the State Department of Education, Family Connection, the SC Primary Healthcare Association, and Crest – Oral B, among others, have scheduled events with us and for us throughout the entire month. We even have proclamations and resolutions from the Governor and the General Assembly! Additionally, we are most excited about the statewide addition of the SC First Steps program to our campaign along with the addition of the Colgate “Bright Smiles

“...educate not only children, but their parents, caregivers, educators, and all other child related professionals and advocates on how to achieve optimum oral health in children.”

Bright Futures” dental van and educational program to our activities at EdVenture. Please make sure to thank and assist these vital organizations who increase awareness and promote optimal oral health on behalf of the SCDA.

“Take Heart and Smile Month” events in February are co-sponsored by the SCDA and the Sisters of Charity Providence Hospital at EdVenture. They will focus on healthy lifestyles that include good nutrition, exercise, and optimum oral health...“eat right, move more, and brush well.” For complete details on the events to be held, please click on the events page of the EdVenture website. Our featured days of the month will be February 7 and 14 as part of the museum’s WOW Weekends, with full days of dental and heart related activities in place. Additionally, on February 10, EdVenture will hold Family Night for an evening of health related activities including dental screenings and oral health information provided by the SCDA, members of the Greater Columbia Dental Society and the SC DHEC Oral Health Division, among others. Finally, EdVenture will be distributing the SCDA’s “No Cavities Instructions” to everyone who visits the museum during NCDHM.

Also, I would be remiss not to give you a summary of one of the SCDA’s best collaborative programs from last year between the ADA Foundation, the SC DHEC Oral Health Division, the Marionette Theatre, and the SCDA along with its Member Benefits division. A new string puppet show was produced by the Marionette Theatre and debuted last February at EdVenture during NCDHM. The show was based on materials previously developed by DHEC for the public schools in SC and was funded by the ADA Foundation, the SCDA, and its Member Benefits division. By visiting 20 of the state’s most needy elementary schools, this show has already reached more than 3,500 school children this past fall and will reach as many or more needy school children during the month of February, in addition to many other shows that are scheduled throughout the year.

Thanks to all of you who participated in 2008. Children’s Dental Health Month 2009 is now here and it is you, the member dentist, who really determines our success. Your individual, unique, and creative efforts—which we collectively submit to the ADA—is the real secret to a successful submission for the Samuel D. Harris State Program Award.

The national ADA theme this year is “Turn Up Your Smile Power!”. It features “T3,” the “Tough Tooth Team” for the younger kids, and an appropriately themed poster for the older kids in middle and high school. A two-sided color poster in English and Spanish which features each of these themes is available on the SCDA and ADA website or can be picked up at the SCDA headquarters. The message focuses on three things: 1) proper daily home care, 2) good nutrition and feeding habits, and 3) early and regular visits to the dentist. Children’s Dental Health Month is an opportunity for our association to conduct a broad-spectrum statewide public relations and oral health awareness campaign.

Children’s Dental Health Month is a group effort where the complete involvement of all SCDA members and their respective communities is the name of the game. We will need every dentist and their staff to concentrate on activities to raise awareness and educate not only children, but their parents, caregivers, educators, and all other child related professionals and advocates on how to achieve optimum oral health in children. Activities will range across all age groups from prenatal preventive educational programs, to infant and toddler oral health as well as school aged oral hygiene and nutritional issues. It will extend all the way up to middle and high school programs on the use of mouthguards, the avoidance of soft drink and tobacco products and even becoming a dental professional in future years.

We will continue to develop collaborative efforts with all local, statewide, public, and private agencies and organizations that have anything to do with the care of a child. Thirty or forty minutes of your time will make a difference to our profession and many children. Visit a school, conduct a screening, or educate adults at a child-related professional’s group or organization. The opportunities are endless. Please photograph and/or video your efforts and report what you do to the SCDA including any news clippings you generate and/or locate using the NCDHM entry form on our website. Our collective efforts will determine our ultimate success. The children of South Carolina will be the beneficiaries of our support and the educational growth of these children, their parents, caregivers, educators, and advocates will be our reward. Please remember that when children win, our profession wins... we all win!

Please visit and explore the National Children’s Dental Health Month tab and pages on the SCDA website for more information. If you would like more information, please contact Dr. Rocky Napier at drrocky@aol.com.

Finally, I wrote to you last month about pending Medicaid changes that were scheduled to go into effect February 1. Since that time we have had continuous dialogue with DHHS as well as a face to face meeting with the full Medicaid Committee and DHHS representatives. The SC Medicaid program continues to be in flux, but the good news is “due to several unresolved implementation issues” the elimination of the Adult Medicaid program has been put on hold. “The Adult Dental Services program will remain in effect at this time” and “any changes to this program will be communicated in future DHHS Bulletins”. Changes to age limits for Panorex films will remain the same as announced on January 1, 2009. Additional information is available on www.scda.org.

Until next time continue your Heritage of Commitment and Make a Difference.
Jim

Executive Director's Notes

Mr. Phil Latham
Executive Director

"The SCDA came out on top in a year filled with budget cuts and program eliminations."

2008 was full of accomplishments we should reflect on and build on when making plans for the new year.

In January, the SCDA had a plate full of legislative bills and functions planned. Your SCDA met early on with several key legislators to discuss Medicaid rates and the Rural Dentist Incentive Program. The SCDA came out on top in a year filled with budget cuts and program eliminations. We saw an increase in many of the procedure codes and having additional monies provided for the Rural Incentive Program. The SCDA also assisted the SC Dental Lab Association with passage of the dental lab bill. The SCDA was involved with many other legislative bills and played a part in their passage.

In February, the SCDA enjoyed a successful Children's Dental Health Month headed by Dr. Rocky Napier and an extraordinary Give Kids a Smile event headed by Dr. Phil Smith. Your Association also hosted lunches with the Senate Finance and Senate Medical Affairs Committees, hosted a dinner with the 3M House Committee, and sponsored another traveling exhibit at EdVenture.

In March and April, all attention was given to the Convention. There was a new location and there were some changes in the format of the meeting. The Convention Committee, headed by Dr. Skip Mollica, deserves kudos to be willing to step out and take a chance on some new ideas.

In May, additional legislative work took place and your SCDA collaborated with the Department of Health and Human Services on Medicaid issues and remained active in DHEC's Oral Health Coalition and Advisory Committees.

In June, the SCDA had a change in leadership and we offered many thanks to Dr. Carter Brown for all of his hard work, effort and many accomplishments during his year as president. We welcomed Dr. Jim Mercer as our new president and hosted a 2 day planning retreat to set forth the SCDA's goals for 2008-2009.

In September, the SCDA was involved with many back to school activities all over the state. Your association also hosted MUSC's Annual Diversity Council meeting.

In October, the SCDA delegation was busy with meetings in Williamsburg, VA for the 16th District Caucus, Atlanta for the Southern Leadership Council and ended up at San Antonio for the ADA meeting. While in Texas, Dr. Ron Tankersley, our 16th District Trustee, was elected ADA President Elect.

In November, meetings and activities continued on all levels and in all areas of the SCDA.

In December, we held our mid-year House of Delegates meeting in Columbia. The new format and location for this meeting has been very well received and if you are not attending this House meeting, I would encourage you to go ahead and mark it down for next year: December 7, 2009.

2009 has already started with many meetings and legislative functions planned. If you are not involved and want to be, please let me know at lathamp@scda.org

Until next month,
Phil
